

Sister Elizabeth Conheady

Sister Elizabeth Conheady entered the Congregation from Church of the Assumption of Fairport. Her first introduction to the the Sisters of Saint Joseph was as a Physical Education teacher at Nazareth Academy.

“I had never known anyone like them! They were fun-loving women who loved God as well as the kids they taught. They impressed me with their desire to go to prayer together as well as their gratitude and joy in God. The love and care for their students seemed to be part of that love.”

As a Sister of Saint Joseph Sister Elizabeth, continued to work at Nazareth Academy. She also taught at Mt. Carmel High School in Auburn. After education, she took on the role of prison chaplain at Groveland Correctional Facility. She also did pastoral work at several local parishes and was a volunteer at the Parish House in Lyons.

On the occasion of her 50th jubilee celebration in 2008, she had this reflection: “The greatest need of our time is for interest, compassion and support for individuals and then a need for opportunities to come together in understanding, fun and prayer.”
