

Sister Kathleen Navarra – 50 Years

“I am grateful to all the women and men with whom I have worked and taught over these 50 years,” said Sister Kathleen Navarra who is currently missioned in Selma, Alabama. “My walk with the Lord has led me to beautiful people and wonderful places. I continue to hold in my heart all my friends, family and Sisters in Northern New York, the Akwesasne Reservation, Rochester, and the Black Belt of Alabama. The Edmundite Missions and my Tang Soo Do family are my present beacon of hope for our world. (The Edmundite Missions is based in Selma, AL and provides food, clothing and shelter to poor and marginalized children and families, young adults and seniors of all faith backgrounds.)

“As the journey continues know you all have been a lamp for my feet and a light on my path (Ps.119) and are always in my prayers.”
