

A young girl with her arms outstretched, running on a dirt path in a field at sunset. The scene is bathed in warm, golden light, with a large splash of water or mist in the background. The girl is wearing a white tank top and red shorts. The overall mood is joyful and nostalgic.

"The most wasted of all days is one without laughter."

E.E. CUMMINGS