

Sister Anne Michelle McGill – 70 Years

Sister Anne Michelle McGill began her ministry as a teacher at St. Alphonsus School in Auburn before moving to St. Anne School in Rochester. From there Sister Anne Michelle helped establish new schools at St. Jerome's parish in East Rochester and St. Thomas More parish in Brighton. She was named principal of St. Rose School in Lima and then of Holy Trinity School in Webster. Sister served as Assistant Superintendent of Catholic Schools and also as Pastoral Associate at St. Pius X parish. She became the first non-ordained minister in the Diocese of Rochester to lead a Catholic parish as the Pastoral Administer of St. Gabriel's parish in Hammondsport. Following her retirement from pastoral ministry, Sister became Director of Resident Priests at the SSJ Motherhouse and worked on the Tanzanian Sister Exchange Program.

"I have learned so much from the ministries I have undertaken. I love the children, parents and parishioners at every parish I served, and have found my service as an administrator to be rewarding and a source of growth for me."
